LONDON 1837

PUB & CHOP HOUSE

In 1837, the Victorian era was born in London.

A city of gas lamps, alehouses, oyster bars and chop houses.

These were places where merchants, writers, dockworkers and theatre crowds came together. Tables were filled with charcoal-grilled meats, fresh oysters, rich dark gravies, roasted bone marrow, stout and ale.

Pub & Chop House is our tribute to that era.

Our kitchen brings together the traditions of the old London chop house with the spirit of a modern premium pub. Robust cuts of meat, British classics, seafood, rich sauces and the flavours of historic alehouses — reimagined for today.

A place for long evenings, sharing plates, candlelight, live music and slowly flowing pints.

— Margo Paluoja
